

Ross Eisenberg

President, America's Plastic Makers™

As President of America's Plastic Makers™, Ross oversees a self-funded group of nineteen ACC Plastics Division member companies who are working together to maximize the value—and minimize the waste—of one of the most versatile materials on the planet. He also leads ACC's plastics advocacy at the state, federal and global levels, working across party lines to achieve a more circular and sustainable solution for plastics in society.

Previously, Ross served as ACC Vice President of Federal Affairs, leading the association's federal advocacy on major legislation including passage of the Kigali Amendment to the Montreal Protocol, the Inflation Reduction Act, and permitting reform. Eisenberg joined ACC in early 2020 after nearly eight years leading energy and resources policy with the National Association of Manufacturers. He also served as counsel on environment and energy with the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and was an environmental litigator at the law firm Greenberg Traurig LLP.

Over the course of two decades in Washington, Ross has testified before Congress more than a dozen times and regularly appears in all forms of media, including television, radio, and print. For his work on behalf of the business of chemistry, Ross has been recognized as one of The Hill's Top Lobbyists, the Washingtonian's 500 Most Influential People in Washington, DC, and a Leading Association Lobbyist by Association TRENDS and CEO Update in 2023.

Ross has a B.A. in English and Political Science from Emory University and a J.D. from Washington and Lee University School of Law. He is a member of the Bar of the District of Columbia.